son and Mrs. J. B. Bradt, of Boston; Mrs. Henry E. Wallace, of Staten Is.and; Mrs. Baird Snyder, of Pottsville; Mrs. A. Bradley Gaither, Mrs. Charles H. Reeves, Mrs. George Reuling, Mrs. George Dobbin Penniman, Miss Hough, Miss Goldsborough and Miss Boarman, of Baltimore.

The most important of today's contests is that for the Washington trophy, a beautiful silver shield with a diamond centre, inscribed upon it are the letters. W. W. Inscribed upon it are the letters "W W. L." At the top is the date of presentation—1897—and at the bottom "Championship of Feurs." Club teams of four alone are eligible to play for this trophy, which is an object for annual competition. It was first won by the Trist Club of Philadelphia, and last year by the Cavendish Club, of Loston. The winner at each congress holds the trophy for one year. Today's scores for this premier event will not be known the trophy for one year. Today's scores for this premier event will not be known until late this afternoon.

The following was the standing of the clubs for the Washington trophy at the beginning of play this morning: Ladies' Whist Crub. New York, 14½; Washington Whist Club. Washington, 12½; Minneapolis Journal, Minneapolis, 12; Woman's Whist Club. FINDS CHICAGO "STUNTED."

Princess Salm Salm Not Favorably Impressed With the Windy City. Chicago, April 26.-The Princess Salm Salm is "doing" Chicago on a bicycle. Thirty miles yesterday formed her initiatory spin over the cobblestones of Wabash Avenue and State Street. The first day impressions of the Princess of Chicago are that the city does not afford enough air, and that the buildings are squatty, in both of which impressions she develops an individuality which distinguishes her observations from those of other travelers, and confounds the opinions of the native Chi-cargoan who has thought the city had some-thing of a monopoly on wind and tall build-

The remainder of the Princess' week's stay in Chicago will be devoted to seeing the city awheel. She will leave next Tuesday for Davenport, Iowa, returning later to Chicago on her way to New York, where she will present flags to the old Eighth Volunteer Regiment.

Struck by Lightning.

Plymouth, Pa., April 26.-During a thuner shower yesterday afternoon John and Ford Collett, Thomas Price, and Benjamin Harris were struck by lightning. They were on the island here in the river and had taken refuge in the large ice house. Price and Harris were burned severely about the arms and face and Ford Collett had an imprint of a tree burned upon his breast. All are in a critical condition.

Hanged Himself at Eighty. Paterson, N. J., April 26.-August J. facobs, eighty years old, hanged himself in his daughter's home yesterday. He was in good health. A few days ago Jacobs said he had lived long enough.

A Wife Partially Deeded Away

Claims a Divorce. Chicago, April 26.-Dr. Paul C. Jenson wife, Minnie Pinkston Jensen, two days barrel. after he married her. This fact was which Judge Tulley was called upon to decide vesterday.

A year ago the physician, who is now in Minnesota, but who formerly lived at No. 740 West North Avenue, secured before the judge a divorce from his wife, fore the judge a divorce from his wife, charging that she thought too much of one Clifford St. John. The wife presented no defence when the case was tried. Now she comes forward with a petition to have the decree set aside, by declaring that it was obtained by fraud. The judge decided to hear the woman's side of the story in full, and the first thing she produced was a copy of the following contract drawn up, she says, by her husband, in their isouse two days after they were married:

she says, by her husband, in their house two days after they were married:

For valuable consideration not hereinafter specified, and the sum of $1, handed and paid to the said Clifford & St. John and Paul C. Jensen, by said Minnie Pinkston, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged,

We hereby agree: First, that neither of us is to have Minnie Pinkston as his wife, nor claim any right to her whateoever.

Second, that said Minnie Pinkston must keep each of us informed at all times of her whereabouts or residence address.

Third, we pledge ourselves, the said Clifford S. St. John and the said Paul Christen Jensen, to pay the said Minnie Pinkston $10 per week, commencing with the 1st day of Norember, 1857, making four weekly payments each month.

We agree between ourselves that, in default or failure on the part of either of us to make such payments at the time specified, if the said amounts be not made up to Minnie Pinkston before the expiration of the said month in which payments were due, said contract shall be considered null and void in its scope and application to said delinquent, thus giving the party keeping up the payments full privilege to marry said Minnie Pinkston, providing she is willing to accept him.

And, furthermore, the party failing to make said payments, as herein specified and provided, further agrees not to molest, annoy, persecute, or do any malicious or harmful act whatsoever.

Mrs. Jensen says that she cannot read or write, but that this contract was read to her by her husband. She protested, but both men signed it. A week later, St. John, she said, called with $10 for her, which she refused to accept. Her husband took it and handed it to her with an additional $10 of his own.

and handed it to her with an additional $10 of his own.

St. John, when he took the witness stand, said he did not know that Minnie Pinkston was married when he signed the paper. Dr. Jensen was not in court to give an explanation of the document.

Mrs. Jensen at present lives at No. 322 Indiana Street. She is about thirty years

GREAT STRIKE PROBABLE.

Prospect of a Tie-Up on the Lacks New York, April 26.—A general tie-up of the entire system of the Delaware, Lacka-wanna and Western Railroad is threatened. due to the wholesale discharging of old employes and other changes since the re-tirement of President "Sam" Sloan and tirement of President "Sam" Sloan and Superintendent Andrew Reasoner, of the Moris and Essex Division.

Fully 500 men have recently left the service of the company, many involuntarily. The entire force of the road, with the exception of the new men, nearly all of whom are from the West, are in a state of panic. Not an employe whatever his position, feels secure and the old men regard themselves as dounced.

Next to the oftence of being an old servant of the company, however faithful, is said to be the unpachagable crime of being over forty-five y are of age. From Helleken to Buffalo there is a general ery of indignation from the men as here after head falls.

Truesdale, General Manager Halstead, and Superintendent Russell. of the Morris and Essex Division, but it is doubtful if they will make any more "concessions."

The men recognise this fact, and already there is a disposition observable to bring the new management to a realizing sense of the fact that the men have rights which cannot be ignored. For the past few weeks meetings have been held almost nightly at different points, notably in Hoboken and in Scranton, by the labor organizations connected with the roal. If the threatened strike takes place it will, old railroad mensay, be one of the bigges; this generation has seen.

"We are going ahead slowly," said one of the employes high in the councils of his fellows yesterday, "but our strike, if we decide upon it, will not be confined to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western. Apart from Pennsylvania it will affect almost every trunk line terminating in New York. For my part it cannot come too soon. Things have reached a stage with relirond men where nothing counts but youth and the ability to do two men's work for wages less than was formerly paid to one man. If men lose the'r usefulness after forty what is to become of us?"

He has cen corresponding with what he supp to be a young girl at Long Branch, and last night the practical jokers who have been conducting the affair sprung the trap. conducting the affair sprung the trap.

Through a previous arrangement Reed met the supposed young woman with a carriage at the Manasquan Station. The "girl" wore a brown dress and carried a gripsack. Reed introduced her to several friends as his prospective bride. Together they drove to the farmer's home, where an elaborate supper had been prepared.

Shortly afterward a hundred or more persons appeared in front of the Reed house, forced an entrance and devoured all the delicacies which Reed had purchased especially for the bridal occasion. The "bride-to-be" rode away on a bicycle in the confusion. "Her" countenance was readily recognized as that of a beardles youth who holds a position with a loca isurance company.

Reed was seen yesterday afternoon, and vows he will use a shotgun if another in-vasion of his house is attempted under sim-ilar circumstances. He still believes that the person he corresponded with is a young woman and is preparing a statement of his courtship up to date.

EXPENSIVE PEACHES

Lawsuit Over Two of Them Cost Allentown, Pa., April 26.-The price of peaches was never so high in Allentown as it was fixed yesterday by a jury in court. Charles F. Schadt, a prominent court. Charles F. Schadt, a prominent business man, sued Henry K. Landis, a grocer, for $1,500 damages, because the latter had him arrested last summer for taking from a row of baskets displayed in front of Landis' store two peaches, one of which happened to be rotten. Schadt was discharged by the alderman.

Then he sued Landis for false arrest and received $250 damages. The lawyers' fees and costs amount to as much more.
